
Abstract of the Invention

C \ A method for assembling an electronic package by forming a housing which has a bond pad located on a bond shelf with an edge, forming a conductive strip along the edge of the bond shelf, and removing a portion of the conductive strip to provide two or more busses capable of having different voltage levels.
